About APPA

APPA promotes leadership in educational facilities for professionals seeking to build their careers, transform their institutions, and elevate the value and recognition of facilities in education. APPA provides members the opportunity to explore trends, issues, and best practices in educational facilities through research, publications, professional development, and credentialing. Formerly the Association of Physical Plant Administrators, APPA is the association of choice for 5,200 educational facilities professionals at more than 1,500 learning institutions throughout the United States, Canada, and abroad. For more information, visit us at www.appa.org.

For the past several years the March/April issue of Facilities Manager has been devoted to topics related to energy, utilities, and environmental stewardship, which make up one of APPA's Four Core Areas for research, information, credentialing, and professional development.

We've timed this issue to coincide with the annual Smart and Sustainable Campuses Conference, this year held April 3-5 on the campus of the University of Maryland, College Park. The conference always has a wealth of topics and presentations that appeal to the facilities professional, sustainability coordinator, business officer, and student leadership at campuses throughout North America.

And we've put together a wealth of articles that add to the knowledge and discussion base for campus environmental sustainability. Our features cover SmartGrid economics, integrating sustainability programs into the facilities capital planning process, student engagement practices, and the USGBC's Green Schools initiative. You'll also read about the latest in geothermal technology and practice, case studies on two recent energy projects in the American Southwest, and an opinion piece on why schools should not cede or sell their Renewable Energy Credits. My thanks to all the authors who contributed to this issue.

You can access the current issue of Facilities Manager, along with archives of most past issues, by going to www.appa.org/FacilitiesManager/archives.cfm. There you will find the full text of most articles from the past 15 years; recent issues include a Flash file of the entire magazine.

In addition to the magazine archives, you can read past issues of APPA's biweekly e-newsletter, Inside APPA, our news and information source for regional and international APPA events, programs, publications, and industry updates. The newsletter archives go back only one year, and you can read them at www.appa.org/publications/InsideAPPA.cfm.

Many of you already receive Inside APPA every other Wednesday, 24 times per year. However, if you're not receiving the newsletter and would like to be included, you may subscribe by sending an e-mail to me at steve@appa.org. The subscription is free. 💰
