APPA Committees Meet This Week

More than 60 APPA leaders from across North America will travel to Alexandria, Virginia, this weekend for the annual convergence of APPA's standing committees: Executive, Information and Research, Membership, Professional Affairs, and Professional Development. President Chris Kopach of the University of Arizona will convene the committees in a plenary session before they meet in their separate discussions. The Executive Committee will meet to prepare for the February Board of Directors meeting. To view your current Board, visit <http://www.appa.org/board/board.cfm>. Also meeting this weekend is the APPA Certification Board.

FPI & KFM Survey Deadlines are December 18!

Tracking Your Facilities Vital Sign

We're only a few weeks away from the deadline to submit data for the annual APPA Facilities Performance Indicators (FPI) survey and the annual APPA/NACUBO Key Facilities Metrics (KFM) survey. Remember that these surveys, and their subsequent reports, are a member benefit to all APPA institutions; there is no charge for completing the survey or receiving the final report—you just need to participate! Follow the links on the accompanying logos to learn more about the reports, register to participate, and links to complete each survey. Don't delay; we need your data to provide the best results possible.
